

Cheri Ziamba's Testimony concerning Message 2 of Visions and Revelations

I have been enjoying and appreciating the messages Brother Titus has been sharing with us concerning visions and revelations. Message Two: The Change of the Age has shined a light on a few things for me. I have seen that we are living in a New Age-the Age of Grace. We are no longer in the Old Age so there is no reason to continue living as though we are. After we have accepted Christ as our Lord and Savior, there is nothing we need to strive to do or certain requirements that need to be met. We have Christ living within us today. We have the opportunity to know him, to enjoy him, to share him, and to be transformed by him. He is grace so when we have Christ we have grace. He covers all and supplies all.

I consider the current situation the world is under. The spread of the Covid-19 virus has had an enormous impact on all of society and will likely continue to do so into the future. This has caused much fear, uncertainty, distress, and change in many lives. People have flocked to stores and online in order to "prepare" or "stock up" on the essential supplies they fear not having access to. Hospitals and healthcare facilities are concerned about the availability of appropriate supplies to cover their own safety and equipment to save lives. Anyone can see that there is a great "need" in many aspects today.

Shortly before the announcement of the governor's order for everyone to "shelter at home", I went to the supermarket to purchase some fish food for my pet fish. As I made my way through the large store I noticed that many of the shelves were completely bare. It was such a foreign feeling to see the shelves wiped clean of products. No canned soups, no cereal, no peanut butter, no cleaning supplies, and yes, no TOILET PAPER (Eeks! Thankfully, there was an abundant supply of fish food). I observed as other shoppers went down the aisles to get their items. Their eyes would survey the empty shelves and then they'd walk away with nothing.

For the most part, we are accustomed to having access to what we want when we want it. The inability to attain supplies is a change for us. It was obvious the store was not prepared for the demand and they simply ran out of the supplies to stock the shelves. The shoppers were depending on the store to have the supply of goods to meet their desires, yet they didn't.

This observation makes me think about my own living related to my spirit. There are many things in this world that we can find ourselves putting our hope, trust, and comfort into: relationships, a career, a home, money, health, and of course, even toiletries. But these things will never sustain us with the supply we need. They will always fail. They will always come short. They will never satisfy.

We cannot depend on the things of the world for our supply. Christ is our bountiful supply He will never run out. He will fill us, he will sustain us and he will grow in us. Christ is the one we depend on. As we continue to put our hope, trust, and comfort in Christ he grows within us. We begin to desire more of him and he reveals to us his vision. Praise the Lord that we can be transformed by him. We can come to him, read his word, speak of him, get to know him, and see his Church. He is our everlasting, life-giving supply. This is a pleasant reminder to me that when the world causes me to feel anxious, weak, and lost, I have Christ to turn to. He shows me that he is the peace, the strength, and the way to grace I need.
